Claims 1-8 and 10 are pending in this application.

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. Muserlian on 1/30/2006.

Amendments to the Claims

Cancel claim 10 and substitute it with the following new claim 11.

Claim 11 (New). Process according to Claim 1, characterized in that the concentration of sodium hypochlorite in the reaction medium is between 0.5 mol/l and 1.5 mol/l.

Amendment to the Specification

Specification page 2, after the last line of the page, insert the following new paragraph ----

The present invention also relates to a process for the synthesis of monochloramine by reaction of an ammonium chloride solution with a sodium hypochlorite solution at -15° to 0°C, characterized in that the sodium chlorite solution is basified beforehand with an inorganic base and in that the ratio of the concentration of total ammonia in the reaction medium to the concentration of sodium hypochlorite in the reaction medium is between 1 and 1.5.

The following observations are made here for the clarity of the record.

(1) Applicant defines "concentration of total ammonia" in the specification as including the concentrations of both ammonia and ammonium chloride. See specification page 1, lines 20-21. The present claims are interpreted in accordance with applicant's definition.

Descriptive support for the presently claimed ratio of the concentration of total ammonia to the concentration of sodium hypochlorite is found throughout the originally filed disclosure. The 1 to 1.5 ratio with respect to ammonium chloride and sodium hypochlorite is disclosed (original claim 1), and the concept of total ammonia is applied even when only ammonium chloride is added (Example 1, see in particular page 7, lines 1-2; Example 2, see in particular lines 28-29). In both inventive Examples 1 and 2, the experimental ratio of the concentration of total ammonia in the reaction medium to the concentration of sodium hypochlorite in the reaction medium is 1.1 (page 6, line 24; page 7, line 23). Therefore, it is clearly conveyed to the skilled artisan that applicant's invention discloses the ratio of the concentration of total ammonia in the reaction medium to the concentration of sodium hypochlorite in the reaction medium being between 1 and 1.5.

(2) In claim 2, the phrase, "the ratio of the concentration of ammonium chloride" finds antecedent basis from claim 1 for several reasons. First, the process of claim 1 is recited as a process for the synthesis of monochloramine by reaction of an ammonium chloride solution with sodium chlorite. Hence, ammonium chloride must be used in the process of claim 1 and it must inherently have a concentration. Second, the "concentration of total ammonia" in claim 1 means that it must include concentrations of ammonia and ammonium chloride. Therefore, the language of claim 2 finds sufficient antecedent basis from claim 1.

(3) Claim 10 was canceled and rewritten as new claim 11 for clerical purposes. Claim 10 was amended with an inadvertent underline in "1.5". Its cancellation will remove any issues as to amendment error and its being rewritten as new claim 11 preserves the exact language of applicant's claim coverage.
